The gender pay gap shows the difference between the average earnings of men and women. This is expressed as a percentage of men's earnings. Gender pay gap reporting is calculated in both median and mean averages. This helps give a more balanced overview of the gender pay gap across an organisation.

- The median average is calculated by listing all salaries in numerical order and selecting the middle number (if there is an even number of results, the median will be the mean of the two central numbers).
- The mean average is calculated by adding up all of the salaries and dividing it by the number of people in an organisation.

The gender pay gap differs from equal pay, which is the pay difference between men and women who carry out the same jobs, similar jobs or work of equal value.

PROPORTION OF HONDA MOTOR EUROPE & HONDA MOTOR EUROPE UK EMPLOYEES RECEIVING A BONUS

Under gender pay gap legislation, a "bonus" is any cash or voucher payment in addition to base salary which is non-recurring and does not relate to a specific allowance. For Honda Motor Europe and Honda Motor Europe UK, this will include long service awards. In our organisation, the majority of our longest service employees are male.

As only a small number of associates would have received these payments during the reporting periods, the percentage of employees receiving a bonus is low.

BONUS DIFFERENCE BETWEEN MEN & WOMEN

WHAT DOES THIS TELL US?

Through analysis we can see that the primary factor driving the gender pay gap in Honda Motor Europe and Honda Motor Europe UK is the split of men and women across grades and pay bands. Essentially, there is under-representation of females in senior (higher paid) grades and over-representation of females in junior (lower paying) grades.

We are committed to bringing together people from different cultures, backgrounds, races and belief and promotes Equal Opportunities. Through our leadership programmes, we include Diversity & Inclusion training. While promotion and progression at Honda will always remain linked to capability and performance, this training and our actions will ensure managers make objective decisions and encourage equal opportunities for all of our associates.

I can confirm that the data shown in this report is accurate
